

Jennifer M. Ascher

Position: Associate

E-mail: jmascher@sorlinglaw.com

Jennifer M. Ascher joined Sorling, Northrup, Hanna, Cullen & Cochran, Ltd. in 2003 upon graduation from law school. She was admitted to practice law in Illinois that same year.

During her law school career at St. Louis University, Ms. Ascher earned a Certificate in Health Law and was Lead Editor of the Journal of Health Law.

She is a member of the American, Illinois State, Central Illinois Women's and Sangamon County Bar Associations, and is an officer of both the Central Illinois Women's Bar Association and the Young Lawyer's Division of the Sangamon County Bar Association. Ms. Ascher also serves on the board of directors of Positive Options, Referrals and Alternatives, a Springfield-area charitable organization, and is an instructor at Robert Morris College in Springfield, where she teaches business organizations.

Education	University of Illinois, Urbana, IL (B.S. in Liberal Arts and Sciences, 2000) St. Louis University School of Law, St. Louis, MO (J.D., 2003)
Bar Admissions	Illinois
Practice Areas	Domestic Relations Health Law Real Estate Transactions Taxation